CapturingCHA is a desktop software tool that gives you the possibility to record your screen activity and save it as JPV files with as little effort as possible. Not too complicated to handle It is packed in a simple, clean and straightforward interface. The intuitive settings make sure that there are no accommodation issues to any kind of users, even those less familiarized with this type of software. Basically, all you have to do is choose the video's name, select the window whose activity you wish to capture, and then proceed with the recording task. Main functionality The application lets you capture your entire screen activity or just a specified area of it. You can choose only the frame rate (minimum 2 fps and maximum 30 fps) of the resulted video. There are no options available for selecting the resolution or quality of the output item. Once a video has been created, you can use the self-play video feature to convert your item to a standalone EXE file. The action is reversible, meaning that will be able to extract JPV files from the executable. The resulted files can be previewed in the tool's main window. Simple load them using the built-in browsing button. Unfortunately, CapturingCHA doesn't come with too many features. For instance, it's not possible to record with sound even if an audio capture device is available, make use of watermarks (text, timestamps, image) to personalize your videos, set a delay time value (for example, 15 seconds) before starting to record, or hide your mouse cursor. Evaluation and conclusion No errors showed up throughout the entire process. Thanks to the fact that it didn't eat up a lot of CPU and memory, the overall performance of the computer was not affected. All in all, CapturingCHA proves to be a fast and reliable tool that lets you capture your screen activity with ease. It worked smoothly during our evaluation.Q: Search in Notepad++ for - and remove I am using Notepad++ and I have this text: then display the word "profile" then display the word "logout" And I want to remove "then display" from the text. How to do this? A: It's a simple match and replace operation. Find what: ^then display\b. It will replace with nothing and then display. In case you want to replace the word "then"

Keymacro is a tool which makes life much easier for those working on computers with limited hardware. It is a software program that allows you to copy and paste from the command line environment to the system clipboard. Main functionality The main advantage of the software is that you will be able to easily copy/paste small text fragments from a console/terminal window to the clipboard. This might be especially helpful when dealing with programming applications. For instance, when you know that you need to copy a particular string, you just have to run the application with the appropriate parameters and the desired string will be right there in the clipboard. Keymacro is not a full screen capture utility. It doesn't support the recording of graphics/window contents. It's not possible to add watermarks, even if a video is playing. However, one of the most useful features of this tool is its compatibility with a wide variety of operating systems and even the most obscure ones. Main issue The program can get a bit sluggish when using it to paste with a lot of clipboard data. It's not possible to exclude certain content from being processed. Evaluation and conclusion We managed to use Keymacro during our evaluation without a problem. The program worked with a lot of different programs/tools, including a bunch of Java applications. There were no problems with stability, functionality or resources. If you are interested in this tool, you will probably find the setup very easy. Keymacro is a good tool that will help you to make life a lot easier. It has many useful features, but it lacks a couple of the most important ones.
