Teye Debebe posted on 02 Jun Thanks for the valuable information. vivian Asebu posted on 21 Oct how do i stop the text from fading out The kenyan government has created a "construction mafia" for itself. Many people are being built and modernized homes and shops by international companies (for a huge fee). These are not even being built by the government. The government takes the money, and then passes it onto this "construction mafia". There is no transparency. I find it immoral that our govt is taking our money and doing nothing for us. There is a new law in the works. it will stop foreigners from buying land (only citizens can) and put the land back into use for our citizens. I think they are planning to eliminate the middle class. Like all communists, they always keep a group of the poor/uneducated around them. They can always use them to further take care of the poor. Also, they are planning to eliminate religion. Many scholars (most from the US) are starting to speak out against the political and economic system in Kenya. One of the main reasons they speak out is because their governments have paid them to. They have a perfect knowledge of this system. Many Kenyans will be greatly disappointed when they learn about this. Kenya is going to be an impoverished state. We will not see a free and fair election. And the rest of Africa will view Kenya as a failed state (even more than it already is). I see you need a lot of traffic to cash your chips. Given that the AM4 platform allows the AMD Ryzen CPUs to be overclocked to higher levels than before, I would expect a higher level of overclockability for the new CPUs. When I first saw Ryzen,
